Saudi purchase requests structured correctly by Meta Llama in our test

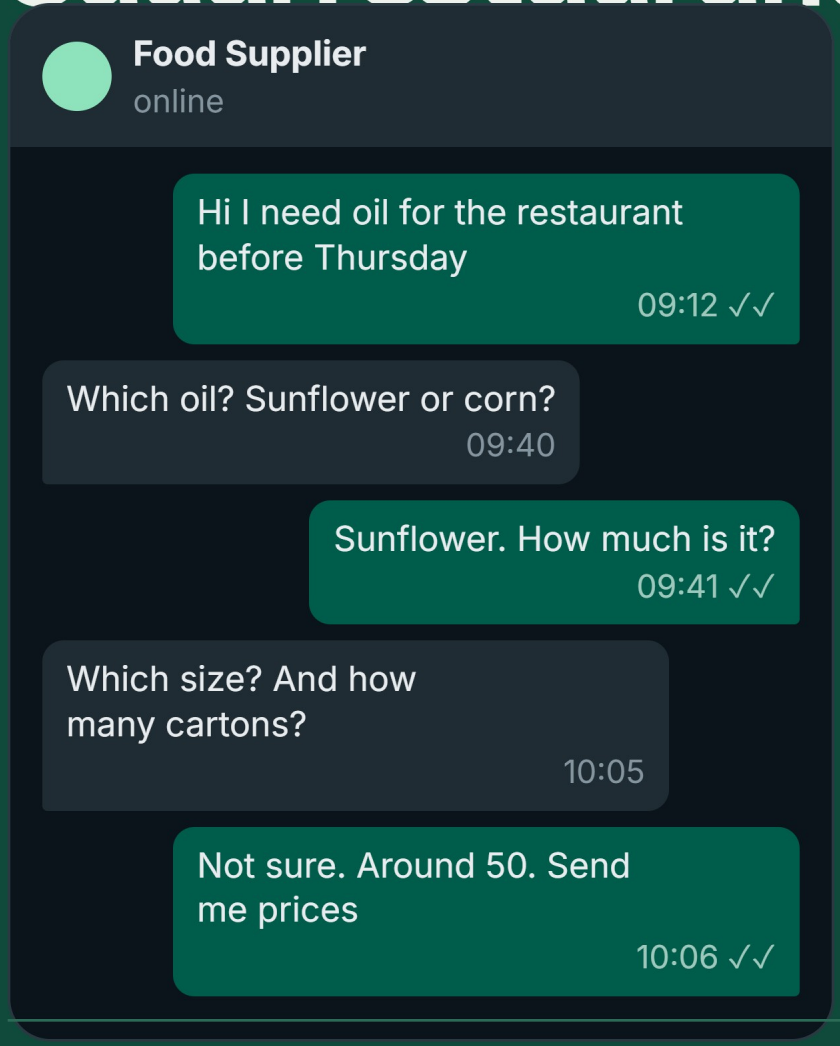

Safqah lets Saudi restaurants and cafés order supplies the way they already talk and get competing offers from verified suppliers in one place.

SAFQAH

“Safqah” means “the deal”

AI-powered procurement for Saudi SMEs

Saudi restaurants still buy over WhatsApp.

$30B Saudi food service market today and heading to $45B by 2030

Vague requests

Hours of back and forth before a supplier can even give a price.

No fair comparison

Price and delivery and payment terms sit in many separate chats.

No buying power

Small buyers pay the highest prices and local suppliers struggle to reach new customers.

Safqah lives where business already happens.

WhatsApp

Order by message

The owner texts Safqah like a supplier. Llama builds the request. The owner confirms with one tap and offers come back in the same chat.

Instagram

Discover local suppliers

Suppliers already sell on Instagram. Safqah turns their DMs and posts into verified profiles and quotes that buyers can compare.

Facebook

Buy together

Restaurant owner groups launch group deals. Small cafés pool demand and unlock the prices big chains get.
